

AMERICA and the Modern World

ARTICLE II
BY WALTER WEILLMAN
NEW YORK.—France's invasion of Germany and occupation of the Ruhr may have consequences of far greater value to the human race than anyone has dared dream. When the French crossed the Rhine they followed by a world. Astonishment was followed by anxiety, an anxiety by analysis. Nothing else since the great war itself has stirred so many minds. Among the millions whose thoughts were roused by this dramatic object-lesson, as the times would have it, was one notable American.

There could not easily be a more vital or fascinating story of the unexpected effect of current events upon the broad future through their awakening of one man's mentality than that which I shall here tell. It was the French seizure of the industrial heart of Germany that did more than any other one thing to stir the soul and push the mind of Warren G. Harding to high and final resolve to make a reorganization of the world which should make impossible repetition of an act so full of hazard to all civilization.

The value of this mental reaction of that plain, hardheaded, conscientious American did not perish in his death. There are signs that it will be preserved and bear fruit in his people, in history. We should not forget that another earnest, keen-thinking American has taken his place in the White House; nor that a few months hence the nation will be occupied in choosing his successor from one or other of the great political parties.

How and why did the Ruhr thus impress Mr. Harding? In the answer we are concerned chiefly with the future, the effect upon the world. We have no need to discuss the merits of the quarrel between France and Germany, to pass judgment or make criticisms. Our interest is in the great forward movement which the event led the man to determine upon, a determination which with its foundation in the law of gravitation in human affairs and its influence upon American public opinion must sooner or later lead one or other of his successors in the White House to follow his guidance.

There is before me as I write two memoranda of the Ruhr and its relations to the world problem, each of considerable length, one written and signed by the late president. These I do not regard myself at liberty to publish, but plainly it is my duty to point out certain significant phases of the subject matter whose consideration produced such vital conclusions by the head of our government and which heritage may exert far-reaching influence upon the future of the world.

It is known to us all that when the great war ended there existed a worldwide hope that now a way would be found to put an end to the old international regime, relic of the era of military absolutism, and erect in its place a really modern system of international regulation through community cooperation; and that in the creation of the League of Nations came a common belief that the means to this great achievement had been found.

Then a period of uncertain drifting, and finally the crash of the Ruhr. Though many nations had helped with the war, though all were deeply concerned in the peace and its consequences though many of them thought they had set up the machinery of effective community cooperation in meeting problems affecting all, now a single nation, with a little help from a nearby neighbor, set out to execute the peace with a lone hand.

CAMP GROUND PROBLEM NOW BEFORE CITY

Auto Tourists Must Have Place to Pitch Camps When Another Outing Season Rolls Around

ATTRACTIVE SITE SEEN ON PETTIBONE ISLAND

Improved Facilities Demanded to Make Tourists More Comfortable Here

After November 1, the city of La Crosse will have no public camping ground for tourists.

At that date expires the permission granted by the Pettibone Park commission to use the present site at the west end of the wagon bridge, and the permission will not be renewed. The city has already been informed. The tourist camp ground there for the last two years has practically ruined this section of the park, the commission holds, and since the duty under their obligation as trustees of the Pettibone park is to keep the park in the best possible condition, they have served notice on the city to find a new location. This decision was reached months ago, but in order not to embarrass the city they were given until Nov. 1, when the touring season of 1923 will be over.

Big Problem Up

Camp site discussions, with the necessity of making new arrangements, are, therefore, the order of the day at the city hall. Nothing, however, has been settled. The city is almost as far from deciding upon the location and equipment of the new camp site as it was when the Pettibone Park Commission gave notice that the temporary quarters in the park would have to be given up.

Meanwhile the pressure upon the city for an adequate camp site has been steadily increasing. People interested in civic affairs are returning from motor trips with the word that everywhere La Crosse has been receiving a lot of bad advertising because of its camping ground. The facilities in La Crosse are much less commodious than those in many smaller places in this and adjoining states and comparisons detrimental to La Crosse are made by those who follow "La Crosse the beautiful" signs over the trunk highways to this city and find no adequate expression of the city's hospitality. The Automobile Club of Western Wisconsin and the Kiwanis Club have actively interested themselves in work for a satisfactory camp ground as a matter of business. It is alleged that tourists are warning each other to stay away from La Crosse because camp facilities are poor.

Three Propositions Up

Several propositions are being discussed at the present time. They may be listed as follows:

- 1.—Camp site on the lower end of Pettibone Island, on ground now leased by the city from the Pettibone Park Commission.
- 2.—Camp site in Mink Park.
- 3.—Camp site in fair grounds.

It is argued for the first of these three proposals that the Mississippi River is perhaps the greatest attraction to tourists offered by the city and that a camping ground on its banks is the logical solution. It is further pointed out that such a site is convenient to the business district and at the same time secluded, so that no congestion will bother local traffic and the campers may have privacy if they want it.

For the second it is argued that Mink Park, particularly that portion near La Crosse street, is not much used for park purposes, that furnishing toilet and water facilities, light and gas if needed, would be much easier than across the river, and that the ground is already owned by the city.

For the third it is claimed that except during fair week the site is unused, and that all facilities are easily obtainable where not already on the ground. It is also pointed out that this location is on a state trunk highway.

Need More Facilities

In any case, regardless of location, those interested are urging that the city furnish facilities on a much more comprehensive scale than anything so far undertaken in the present camp site. Modern toilet facilities, with possible shower-bath, a sheltered place for cooking, wooden floors for tents, running water and electric lights are among the things which it is suggested should be provided. Another point that is mooted is whether the city should or should not ask a nominal fee from campers for use of the grounds. A sum of twenty-five or fifty cents is suggested, in order to pay the expense of keeping up the grounds and furnishing a caretaker.

It is expected that the whole matter will shortly come before the council, as definite action must be taken before next spring in order that a camp be ready when the touring season opens up in May.

GERMANY READY TO OFFER MORTGAGE ON RESOURCES OF NATION SAYS CHANCELLOR

BERLIN.—By the Associated Press.—Germany is prepared to enlist private property in industry, commerce, finance and agriculture as a pledge for payment of her reparation obligations if she is assured that the Ruhr and Rhineland will be restored. Chancellor Stresemann told German editors Wednesday.

"These guarantees," he said, "are capable of solving the question of passive resistance, provided assurance is given us that on the basis of such an understanding the Ruhr will be evacuated and the Rhineland restored to its former rights."

He admitted passive resistance did not offer a solution of the Ruhr question.

Proposing an international trusteeship for the administration of the proposed nation-wide hypothecation of resources, the chancellor said that the proceeds accruing from the mortgage would be paid to the trustees, who would include representatives of the reparation creditors. This body would then be able to issue bonds, thus making it possible for France to receive large sums of money immediately.

Step Forward Says Paris

PARIS.—Chancellor Stresemann's reply to Premier Poincare's last speech has made a not unfavorable impression here, although in the absence of a fuller report, extended comment is reserved.

Le Matin, generally understood to be close to Poincare, considers that the German chancellor has taken a step forward, without, however, succeeding in ridding himself of the false ideas that an application of his scheme of mortgages on private property would be sufficient to justify evacuation of the Ruhr.

The French government, it adds, stands by its position, which is unassailable. France may, of course, La Matin concludes, modify her regime in the Ruhr if Germany sets about paying but she will not evacuate the territory except in proportion as payments are made.

FIRST FROST HERE NIPS TOBACCO; FROST AGAIN THIS EVENING

Top Leaves of Crop Throughout County Damaged; Most of the Yield Harvested

33.8 DEGREES AT 6 A. M. ON THURSDAY IS NEAR RECORD

Snow and Killing Frost Reported Throughout Middle West

JACK FROST made his debut for the fall of 1923 in La Crosse Wednesday night and results of his visit were observed Thursday in nipped leaves on tobacco plants, wilted flowers and vegetables. The tobacco crop, or that part of it still left in the fields, was the hardest hit of any crop in the county.

The lowest temperature in the past 24 hours was 33.8 degrees at 6 a. m. Thursday morning, according to the official record of the weather bureau. The lowest temperature ever recorded in La Crosse for September, according to government figures, was on September 30, 1899, when the mercury sank to 24 degrees above zero. On September 13, 1902, it was 32 degrees, 1.8 degrees colder than this morning. On September 17, 1917, it was 34 degrees.

Frost Again Tonight

The frost was especially heavy in the coulees and valleys in the county, according to reports received from farmers Thursday morning. Flower and truck gardens in the city also suffered somewhat from the chilly temperature. Kitchen stoves were fired Thursday morning in many homes for the first time this season.

S. P. Markle reported that the frost was heavy in Mormon Coulee but that about the only crop damage was to be asparagus. He said the frost would be harmful to the asparagus.

Tobacco Crop Nipped

George Dudley of the West Salem State bank, said that farmers coming into Salem early Thursday announced that the top leaves of tobacco plants were nipped. The frost did not penetrate any lower than the upper leaves, he said. According to Mr. Dudley practically three-fourths of the tobacco crop of the county has been harvested so the damage would be slight compared to what it would had the frost come a week earlier.

W. E. Spreiter of Onalaska, county farm agent, said that he had no reports as yet from the county on frost damage but that probably the only crop that would be damaged would be the tobacco that was still in the fields. Mr. Spreiter said the frost was heaviest in the valleys and coulees.

Snow, Frosts in West

CHICAGO, Ill.—Snow and killing frosts Thursday sent the north and west to donning overcoats, while portions of the central states shivered as the area of the lowered temperatures spread.

Frosts were general throughout Minnesota and the Dakotas last night but the extent of damage to crops, if any, was not determined.

Michigan and Minnesota saw the first snow of the season Wednesday. At Calumet, Mich., cold winds off Lake Superior brought snow that continued to fall for a half hour and at Marquette reports were received of a brief snowfall at Ishpeming.

Tobacco Badly Damaged

MADISON, Wis.—Severe damage to the Wisconsin tobacco crop due to frost in southern counties Wednesday night, was reported here Thursday from growing centers. Dane, Iowa, Crawford and Vernon counties all are affected.

Much of the tobacco in the fields, particularly in low lands, was said to have suffered. Other crops largely escaped injury.

GENERAL PERSHING BEGINS LAST YEAR OF ACTIVE SERVICE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—John J. Pershing celebrated Thursday his sixty-third birthday. He began his last year of active service in the army to which his life has been devoted, at his desk in the war department performing the triple duties of acting secretary of war, general of the armies, and chief of staff.

A year from today, which also is the anniversary of the opening of the battle of St. Mihiel, the man who commanded the American army then in its first great drive against the German lines in France, will pass automatically to the retired list.

Before the general's desk stands a great map of the United States covered over with markings showing the distribution and organization of the new army of the United States that has been created out of the lessons learned through the struggle in France.

RELIEF FUND FOR JAPAN GROWING AS REPORTS COME IN

Nearly $2,000 in Cash in Hands of Executive Secretary at Noon Today

With reports still forthcoming from many workers and from a majority of the schools and plants where boxes were located, the local fund for the relief of the sufferers in Japan this morning reached a total of $1,750, according to the report of Miss Mabel Young, executive secretary. Only three schools had sent in their boxes up to noon today.

Included in the $1,750 is $50 which was raised by employees of the Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company before the local drive was started.

MINE UNION TO SUE BROOKHART FOR HIS FAILURE TO SPEAK

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—John Watt, secretary of the local sub-district, United Mine Workers of America, announced Thursday he had instructed his attorney, Morris J. Hillquit of New York to file suit for damages of $10,000 against Senator Smith W. Brookhart, Iowa, and the Thomas Brady Bookings agency of New York, arising out of the senator's refusal to speak here Labor day at the United Mine Workers' celebration.

HEAVY CLOTHING IN ORDER FOR FRIDAY'S FIGHT

NEW YORK.—Ear muffs and a winter coat may be what the well-dressed will be wearing at the Dempsey-Tyrone fight Friday night, if the harsh prediction of the Weather bureau is borne out.

Near frost temperatures probably will prevail over this section. Fair weather, with fresh northwest winds, is indicated for the next thirty-six hours, the forecast said.

NO EXPLANATION OF NAVAL CRASH REPORTS COONTZ

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Admiral Coontz, commanding the United States fleet, reported to the navy department Thursday that no adequate explanation had been given for the unusual position of the seven American destroyers when they were wrecked on the California coast Saturday night. He declared the squadron was far off its prescribed course and was steaming in a fog at 20 knots.

DAUGHERTY IN REPORT SHOWS LIQUOR PLOTS

All Classes Involved in Prohibition Violations as Made Known in Resume of Dry Enforcement

MORE CONVICTIONS FOR DRY VIOLATORS BEING OBTAINED

Commends Wisconsin for Vigorous Prosecution of Dishonest Prohibition Agents

WASHINGTON, D. C.—An amazing record of crime and conspiracy was disclosed Wednesday when Attorney General Daugherty submitted to President Coolidge a full report concerning the work of the federal judiciary in its efforts to enforce prohibition since the enactment of the Volstead act, forty-one months ago.

In a synopsis of the report made public with President Coolidge's consent, the point since the Volstead law was placed on the statute books was described by the department of justice as "one of the most tragic epochs in American history relative to law enforcement."

High Officials as Violators

"It reveals, among other things," said the official synopsis, "that the department of justice has been called upon to prosecute a member of the judiciary, prominent members of the American bar, high officials of the federal and state governments, millionaires, scions of the nation's aristocracy, and a sordid story of assassination, bribery and corruption that found its way into the very sanctuaries wherein the inviolability of the law was presumed to have been held sacred."

Mr. Daugherty cited many cases in which liquor law violation and politics were directly connected.

"One case which stands out as a big accomplishment of the report," was the Rock Island conspiracy case, which was prepared by the federal authorities but tried in the state court.

Cites Rock Island Case

"As a result of an investigation made in June, 1922, it was discovered that a clique of men, with an attorney for a leader, was promoting city, county, state and federal immunity to bootleggers and others violating the law. This clique had been operating for fifteen years and was publishing a 'scandal and blackmail sheet' to help it gain the desired ends. The result of the prosecution of this case is shown by the improved conditions in Rock Island."

Federal officers who have been unable to withstand temptations offered by reason of their official positions, have been prosecuted in many districts, but nowhere has prosecution been pushed more vigorously than in Wisconsin, the report said.

Tells of Eastern Convictions

As a result of one investigation in the eastern district there were five federal prohibition officers, one bank president, one attorney, and fourteen wholesale liquor dealers convicted.

It was discovered that $4,000,000 had been used in the illegal transactions which resulted in this trial. The total amount of jail sentences imposed as a result of one investigation was thirty-one years, and total amount of fines was $187,000.

In Indiana there have been two important cases in the federal court—important in that both cases involved public officials and broke up local organizations which were fostering graft and defying enforcement of the law.

In regard to successful prosecution, the statement said that detailed reports now before Mr. Daugherty show that since the prohibition law went into effect January 16, 1920, more than 90,000 cases have been terminated, of which there were 72,490 convictions; that fines totaling more than $12,267,680 have been assessed in criminal cases alone; that jail sentences for the last twenty-three months of national prohibition total more than 3,000 years.

Urge Drive on Rum

More than a year ago there was dispatched to United States Attorneys a special series of instructions in which Mr. Daugherty stated that while he was gratified with the progress of prosecutions, he was desirous that a more relentless campaign be launched.

He called attention to the congestion of the federal dockets and insisted that inasmuch as this condition hampered the orderly process of justice, and operated of law violators, to the advantage of disposition of all pending and currently originating cases would furnish convincing evidence that the federal government was not disposed to tolerate delays.

The report adds that as a result of this policy violators were forced to plead guilty in large numbers, and the government consequently was saved considerable time and the enormous expense of trials.

Mr. Daugherty stated that in 80 per cent of the cases terminated the violators were fined.

REVOLUTION BREAKS OUT IN BARCELONA; OTHER CITIES IN SPAIN EXPECTED TO FOLLOW

Outbreak Directed Against Government and Not Against the King, Says Proclamation of Revolutionists; Army Garrisons Join New Movement and Barcelona is Declared in State of Siege

MADRID.—By The Associated Press.—The government Thursday afternoon telegraphed Captain General Primo-Rivera at Barcelona, considered to be the leading spirit in the revolt movement, appealing to his patriotism and asking him to abandon his "attitude of rebellion." The captain general replied with an unqualified denial. The government thereupon decreed his demotion as military governor of Barcelona.

It was announced that Foreign Minister Santiago Alba and the minister of labor, Jose Rosado Gil had resigned.

BARCELONA.—The main telephone exchange here was occupied early Wednesday by a band of men understood to be headed by Captain General Primo-Rivera. It is believed that the movement will signalize an outbreak in other of the chief towns in Spain. Grave rumors were circulating in Madrid Wednesday night and the government held a hastily called meeting. A state of siege was proclaimed here at 11:15 o'clock Thursday morning and the Catalan military authorities took possession of power in the city.

It is stated here that several garrisons, notably those in Madrid, Saragossa and Seville, have adhered to the military movement which now must be recognized as a regular coup d'etat.

The normal life of Barcelona is proceeding.

The imminence of important events was widely discussed throughout the night.

A document addressed to all Spaniards and signed by Captain General Rivera was published at two o'clock Thursday morning. It criticizes the present government and stigmatizes the professional politicians for seizing the power and annihilating the will of the king.

TOKIO FREE FROM QUAKES FOR FIRST TIME IN FORTNIGHT

More than Thousand Shocks Felt During Past Week; Disposal of Bodies Huge Task

TOKIO.—By The Associated Press.—Relief was on the faces of the people Thursday for they had passed the first night free from earthquakes since the fatal first of September.

It is estimated that during the week there were more than 1,000 shocks, 700 of them plainly felt, and some severe enough to bring the fear of fresh destruction.

The weather remains fine, enabling work to be expedited on temporary shelters.

The situation in Yokohama is appalling. Thousands are camped in the parks with their scanty supplies of food and water.

Three days were needed to cremate the bodies taken from the Sumida river, which runs through Tokyo. Hundreds of bodies still are floating in adjacent rivers and bays.

Yokohama Dead 23,767

TOKIO.—By The Associated Press.—Officials estimate the dead in Yokohama at 23,767, of whom 146 were foreigners, excluding Chinese. Casualties at the Yokosuka naval base totaled 4,331.

The public is waiting for the fire insurance companies to take action. The companies with capital aggregating 200,000,000 yen ($100,000,000) and reserves of $75,000,000, face estimated losses of 2,000,000,000 yen. They are compelled to await the decision of the banks in the matter of assistance. Meanwhile, only temporary buildings are being erected.

Loyal to King

The movement, the communists declare, is loyal to the king, being directed not against the sovereign but the government.

TWO COMPLAINTS IN DIVORCE SUITS FILED IN COURT

Two suits for divorce have been filed in circuit court in the past 24 hours.

Mrs. Regina Grupp seeks a divorce from William J. Grupp. The wife charges her husband with using vile language toward her and with physical violence. They were married in La Crosse June 17, 1908, and have three children. Mrs. Eleanor McGinnis wants a divorce from James McGinnis, charging cruel and inhuman treatment, habitual drunkenness, failure to properly support the family and with desertion in April, 1923. They were married in Tomah in October, 1898, and have four children.

OUTLINE NEW LAWS TO CURTAIL DEATHS FROM AUTOMOBILES

Propose Intelligence Tests for all Drivers of Motor Cars

CHICAGO—An intelligence test for the man or woman who drives a motor car is a possibility within the next two or three years.

Representatives of 13 middle western states are to be invited to attend the Conference of Motor Vehicle Administrators, representing state automobile licensing bureaus, to be held here early in September, at which plans will be made for working out safety-first laws for automobilists and pedestrians. The movement is being fostered by the National Safety Council. The conference is to be called by Fred M. Mosse, chief of the public safety division of the National Safety Council.

"The man who drives a car for somebody else must pass an examination," said Walter W. Miller, chief clerk of the automobile division of the Illinois Department of State. "But anybody can drive an automobile if he owns it whether he has ordinary horse sense or not."

"The accidents do not happen to licensed chauffeurs. They happen to the unskilled drivers. The conference will make plans for uniform laws to govern the licensing of automobile operators to see if they are sufficiently competent mentally to handle a motor-driven vehicle. Some form of intelligence test is likely to be devised."

Representatives of the state departments of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kentucky, Kansas, Nebraska and North and South Dakota will be invited. It is hoped to have the conference just prior to the meeting of secretaries of state at Asheville, N. C., September 13, 14, 15.

There is a real need, according to the officials sponsoring the conference, for uniform laws of driving to lessen the death rate. One way suggested is to prevent a man who never has handled a car before from buying a machine and promptly setting forth as if he were an experienced driver. This prevalent custom could be prevented, they say, by forcing the dealer by law to see that everybody to whom he sells a car is thoroughly instructed before he is permitted to operate it on the public highways.

ODD FELLOWS PLAN HOME
DEVILS LAKE, N. D.—Bids for the construction of a foundation for the new $80,000 Odd Fellows home to be built near the city limits of Devils Lake will be advertised Saturday, according to Don McDonald, grand secretary of the state I. O. O. F., and a member of the board of trustees.

TRIES TO FRIGHTEN WIFE;
YOUNG MAN SHOOT'S SELF

He is suffering from a flesh wound. Vera Amoth, 18, his wife, told police he had not worked since they were married, after a brief courtship. She said he came home and asked her for money and when she refused, threatened to kill himself.

Police questioned Mrs. Amoth and then released her.

SMALLER AMOUNT IN TAXES COLLECTED IN WISCONSIN IN YEAR

Reduction of Million is Attributed to Smaller Returns from Income Tax

MADISON, Wis.—A slight reduction in the total taxes collected in Wisconsin from all sources during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, is to be shown by compilations of the state tax commission, according to T. E. Lyons, chairman of the commission. The expected reduction, amounting to approximately $1,000,000, is attributable to lower returns from the income tax, Mr. Lyons said.

The tax commission, the only state department to attempt to show the actual cost of state government to the taxpayer, finds that instead of bearing a burden of $36,000,000 annually for supporting their state government as reported from some sources, the people are paying less than $14,000,000.

This figure is arrived at through elimination of state aid and agency transactions that involve no state expense.

According to tax commission figures, the total general property taxes in Wisconsin for the past fiscal year will total approximately $98,000,000, with income and other taxes bringing the grand total for state, county, local and school purposes to nearly $117,000,000.

Tax commission figures for the past year are expected to show that only slightly over 11 per cent of total taxes are for state purposes, while 21 per cent are for county purposes.

37 per cent for local purposes and 81 per cent for schools.

THEY order things much better in Europe." That's an old gag that used to make untraveled Americans peevish with their traveled compatriots. It was the correct thing to say to indicate superiority and elegance. One hears it much less frequently nowadays. Probably travel to Europe was never so heavy as it has been this past summer. But the returned travellers now chorus "No place like the good old U. S. A." It is a healthier attitude.

A most recent example is Rev. Dr. Frederick H. Knobel, head of the United Lutheran church. He sailed for Europe with a steamer statement that roused nation-wide comment, to the effect that the girls of the United States are at the lowest moral ebb in the nation's history. He returned with the season's customary thanksgiving to be back on American soil, and his pronouncement upon reaching the dock was that American girlhood was much above its European sisters from the moral standpoint.

It is not necessary to specify the particulars in which Dr. Knobel was shocked during his stay abroad. They make rather unpleasant reading, and if his observations are correct there can be no doubt that even the wildest flapper circles of this country are mid-Victorian in comparison. But undoubtedly they do furnish a background against which the comparative merits of our American girls can be clearly appraised. And one is glad to note that even a pessimist finds that they stand the test well.

We never shared Dr. Knobel's pessimism. Undoubtedly modern young women are different than those of the generations that preceded them. But that the difference is to be counted as evil is by no means so sure. There is greater freedom, less convention and restraint. Probably there is too little restraint. But when all is said that is a matter of custom, and not much else. Taste seldom involves the issues of right and wrong. What the elders may think bad is often on analysis just a difference in tastes, and the elders may just as easily have the weak end of the argument de gustibus as the flapper and her kind.

It is true that our literature is much looser than it used to be, but that proves chiefly that a certain type of writing youth has discovered an unworked vein of low-grade metal that yields rich results. It does not mean that this literature accurately reflects the life of our time. Indeed, one has but to read a sample of it to be sure that it actively misrepresents most of it. American youth is not to be condemned merely because sensational and immature cynics aver that it behaves thus and so—when it does not. One suspects that a great many critics of American youth get their ideas of what it is like from the best sellers of Scott Fitzgerald, Ben Hecht and Floyd Dell rather than from actually looking at the youngsters around them.

The argument could be prolonged—but to what use? What we started out to do was to point out how a critic of American girlhood who went abroad scoffing and scorned returned giving thanks. And we heartily endorse his conviction, after looking over European samples, that the girls of the United States, with all their faults, are the finest in the world.

An Overdue Bill

IN almost every city of the north there is some place where the Civil War veterans, the little remnant of the Grand Army of the Republic, get together and swap reminiscences, or indulge in a friendly game of "Sixty-Six." Many counties provide a sort of club room in the county court house for this purpose. People who have not found the pleasure of occasionally dropping into such places see them only, as a rule, upon patriotic occasions. And so a Grand Army encampment, where they gather in thousands, is a most interesting event to the average citizen.

We possess a certain amount of sentimentality about the Civil War veteran, accompanied by a sympathetic feeling born of the general impression that old age is in some way pitiable. Observations in the lobbies of Milwaukee hotels during the recent encampment must have given onlookers a more healthy feeling about these veterans. Old they are, it is true, but not to be pitied—just to be dealt fairly with. For despite the hand of time, they are still a doughty lot, capable of enjoying life and frequently filled with the zest of it. Jokes at the expense of themselves, and at evidences of their own decrepitude were laughed at merrily by men who face the unknown future now as bravely as they faced death in the war that saved the Union.

And the women, too, won admiration as they accompanied their veteran menfolk. One might have expected "poke bonnets" and somber, shapeless dresses. Not at all. These women of the Civil War had kept pace with the times. They were snappily dressed. Some of them had not disdained a perceptible touch of rouge. Their eyes sparkled, and their conversation was animated. They had refused to grow old, and where now and then one disclosed what seemed a little dash of flapperism it was so delicately and nicely done as to make its object captivating.

Talk ranged from the old days and old deeds to the newest lines in politics and gowns. The ladies bantered the men as they might have done forty years ago, and the repartee was often positively dashing.

And so one found in the encampment, not daguerreotypes of a past or passe' generation, but an interesting picture of American life with the charm of middle nineteenth century society transmuted through the decades into the goal of happy and mellowed old age. Gallant men and noble women these!

Recently the press reported a movement by the Grand Army for supplementary pensions for the Civil War veterans. We have not read what reasons are advanced, but that is not necessary. Obviously, with new standards of living and the attendant expense, and with heavy advances in the cost of all necessities of life, pensions that were adequate twenty and even ten years ago, have been reduced to mere pitances. We do not ask for sympathy for the surviving members of the G. A. R. They do not need our sympathy. This is merely a reminder that the American sense of honor always observes the obligation of a debt. In all justice we owe the men who saved the Union, and their families, a decent living within it in the years when they can not serve themselves. No self-respecting American cares to look a veteran of the Civil War in the face with the knowledge that he and his government owes the hero an unpaid bill.

It would be a wonderful thing were the American Legion to assist the G. A. R. in bringing the attention of congress forcibly to this inescapable issue. Perhaps were they to do this, forgetting the more recent debt which the public owes the World War veteran, they might, in addition to performing a worthy act, come themselves more quickly to the bar of justice to receive a just verdict on their own account.

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

H. E. McCormick, principal of the La Crosse high school, has been made chairman of the college and high school section of the State Teachers' association which meets in Milwaukee in November. He is now at work on the program.

The enrollment at the high school went to 803 yesterday and more students are expected.

Identical William Hoeflinger of the board of trade has named a committee to solicit funds to secure the theological seminary of the German Reformed church for La Crosse. The soliciting committee will consist of N. M. Scott, E. M. Wing, Frank Sisson, Dr. Evans and Peter Newburg.

An audience which taxed the capacity of the West Avenue Methodist church was delighted last night with "The Music Master" as presented by John S. # Love and Romance

BY CORONA REMINGTON

It's dreadful not to be the least bit in love; not even to have anything hanging around to fall in love with, and to see everywhere couples looking at each other with that how-I-adore-you, darling-how-could-I-live-without-you expression on their faces. On every side, my fiancée, my girl, my husband, my wife. Every body had somebody—except Violette Ramsdale.

Then came John Hodges. He walked into her life as easily and unexpectedly as—well, as most lovers do. The minute she saw him she knew—she absolutely knew he was going to propose to her. She could feel it in every bone in her body.

"I'm mighty glad to meet you," he said, grasping her hand warmly. There was something so spontaneous and out-going about his nature that no one could help liking him, nor feeling liked by him. Success was written all over him.

"And so you name is Violette? May I use it?" he asked as they parted. A perplexed little expression chased itself across Miss Ramsdale's face. She was not accustomed to men, and didn't know what to say.

"Oh, but it fits you so beautifully," Violette, he whispered. "I—I glad you like it," she said after a moment. "Yes, you may call me that."

For the girl all life had changed. The sun seemed to shine with a new significance, the flowers bloomed just for her. Life was so important now, so real, yet so unreal. Could she be the same girl? Surely not.

Hodges took her here, there and everywhere. Each evening they went together and often lunch time found them seated across the table from each other in some quiet little restaurant. He wooed her impetuously, sent her flowers and brought her candy.

"You're so good to me," she said gratefully one evening as he was rising to go.

"How could any one help being good to you?" he asked. "You're so—so absolutely adorable."

Violette flushed and trembled. He was going to propose, she knew. What should she say? What should she do?

"Violette, I—I love you," he said, drawing her into his arms. His eyes looked big and almost afraid, as close to hers as "you lovely thing," he said reverently, kissing her.

It was over, the experience of her life, the one for which she had been waiting so long. She had been wooed and won—and kissed. That night, after he had gone and she had retired, she stared at the dark ceiling and lived over the blissful evening. She didn't want to go to sleep. How could she for a moment even endure the idea of shutting out all those thrilling memories with sleep? Sleep was for those who were bored and unhappy.

Then in going over his every word for the fourth time it occurred to her that, after all, he had not really proposed. That is, he had not actually said the words, but of course he meant it, did he mean it? The rest of the night was no pleasant, and by the time she finally fell asleep she was glad that she had only let him have two little kisses.

The next morning she was decidedly uneasy, and she remembered now a slight feeling not exactly of mistrust, but perhaps more a feeling of not complete trust, that she had always had when she was with him. But it was so sweet to be loved, and she had been so lonely.

"What makes you so quiet and solemn today?" asked her employer, Jim Foster. "You don't seem a bit like your happy little self."

Violette flushed and looked down at her typewriter.

"I don't believe it's anything," she said shakily.

"Well, if you need any help or advice, Violette, remember Jim Foster's right here."

She flashed him a grateful look and turned to the ringing telephone.

"This is John, darling," came the voice over the wire. "I'm so sorry I have a business engagement and can't get down to take you to lunch today. So, so sorry, dear."

Violette flushed and looked down at her typewriter.

"Right you are, but ours shall be both," he promised happily.

OUT OUR WAY

ROLLING HIS OWN

chanced to go to a dainty little tearoom a few blocks down the street. She would not go to any of their favorite haunts. It would make her feel all the lonelier. She had been sitting there a few moments when she recognized the back in front of her as John's own well-tailored back. He was leaning across the table talking to a pretty girl.

"You know I love you," she heard him say in a low tone, and in her horrified mind Violette could see his eyes glowing as they had when he had kissed her the night before. She jumped up and hurried out of the tearoom unobserved.

"Way, what's the matter, Violette?" her employer asked as she rushed into the office. "You haven't been gone ten minutes and you look as if you'd seen a ghost."

"Oh, nothing, nothing, nothing!" she called, bursting into tears.

"Well, there's only one place for you to cry, and that's right here!" He held her quietly in his arms and stroked her soft hair.

"You know," he was saying gently, "you need a man like me to shoulder your work and when you are tired of running around with that he-rump I'm going to propose to you, dear. I've been watching you, though, and I believe in letting a girl have it out. Sooner or later you'll find out he's not the kind for you, else I'm very much mistaken in him or you."

It was not romantic, this second proposal of hers, but it was so comfortable and safe and good.

"I'm through," she answered meekly a moment later. "I've found out, but I would have had to have that first experience to be able to appreciate you. I know now there's a big difference between love and romance. There's some love that's romance, but there's a whole lot of romance that isn't love."

"Right you are, but ours shall be both," he promised happily.

A HEALTHY SCALP GROWS BEAUTIFUL HAIR

You can't have beautiful hair unless your scalp is thoroughly clean. It is impossible for any head of hair to be beautiful unless it is kept clean and free from the dust, dirt, dandruff and grime which not only mar the beauty of hair but stifle the healthy, normal action of the scalp pores.

Your scalp can't be thoroughly clean unless you use Fitch Shampoo because no other shampoo combines the two necessary elements for the thorough cleansing and invigoration of the hair and scalp. The tonic in Fitch Dandruff Remover Shampoo actually penetrates into every pore and hair follicle thereby invigorating the growth of hair. It dissolves every particle of dirt, grease or other foreign substances. The shampoo then is gradually released by the application of water and, when rubbed out and rinsed, carries with it all dandruff, dirt and foreign substances, leaving every pore open and functioning as nature intended. Your first Fitch Shampoo will leave no doubt in your mind. You'll know "by the feel" that your hair and scalp were never thoroughly clean before.

Enough Fitch Dandruff Remover Shampoo to last for months costs but little at any toilet counter.

IT'S the easiest floor to clean and keep clean—no back-breaking scrubbing—no bare floors to absorb grease and dirt. Sanitary and offered in proper colors.

MONROE OBSERVES "CHEESE DAY" ON OCTOBER SECOND

"Cheese Capital of U. S." Plans
Program to Emphasize Importance of Dairying

MONROE, Wis.—Cheese day is coming back to Green county this year bigger and better than ever in the times past when the affair ranked high among the agricultural events of Wisconsin, farmers sponsoring the revival of the day.

On October 2, at Monroe, the "Swiss Cheese Capital of America," the dairymen of Green county intend to show the world their foreign cheese products, and again emphasize the importance of the dairy cow in Wisconsin's development.

Green County Cheese day is a unique community event, built up in the years before the war, and then discontinued. It is being revived again this year to set forth the highly developed dairy industry of Green county, known as the most important dairy section producing Swiss, Limburger and brick cheese in the United States.

Here in this county, cows outnumber the population three to one. In an area of 24 square miles are to be found 157 cheese factories, 4 condensaries, 3 creameries and 22 receiving stations for milk. The annual production of cheese, all of it foreign cheese, totals over 12,400,000 pounds, with dairy products of the small county valued at over $8,000,000 each year.

It is to show the state and nation the products of this highly developed section that Cheese day is being revived. Not alone county residents but outsiders are invited to join in the community celebration arranged for on October 2.

Green county was settled in 1845 by the Swiss directly from their native country. The settlers raised wheat continuously for more than 20 years before they started dairying. After bringing in the dairy cow there was a steady improvement in conditions until now Green county is listed as one of the richest of all agricultural sections in the country.

Pure bred Holstein herds predominate while Guernseys and Jersey herds are owned in large numbers. The Cheese day on October 2 is to be followed on October 3 with a Holstein breeders' sale.

FISKE O'HARA TO OPEN ON FRIDAY FOR 2-DAY STAY

The Ekkabie Fiske O'Hara and his compelling smile will be at the La Crosse theater tomorrow night for his annual engagement, when he will be seen in his latest success "Jack of Hearts." There is only one Fiske O'Hara. He is a distinct personality in the theater. Other stage stars have had the same qualifications and yet have not been able to do what O'Hara seems to accomplish. It matters little what the explanation may be. The fact remains that no stage star today so completely reaches the affections of the great public as does Fiske O'Hara. "Jack of Hearts" is a story that is at once unusual, original, powerful and captivating, satisfying the requirements in the way of a thoroughly good play. O'Hara's new songs have a tug at the heart strings and linger with one for many a day.

No More Gray Hair —Says Science

Wonderful Clean,
Colorless Liquid
Restores
Original Color
Results in a Week

Science again has scored a triumph in the discovery of a very remarkable liquid known as Kolor-Bak. If you are gray, just apply this liquid to the hair and scalp and your hair will soon take on the actual color it had in the past. Not a trace of grayness will remain.

Kolor-Bak comes in the form of a clean and colorless liquid, containing properties which quickly restore the lost color to the hair and give it renewed vigor. And note that the one preparation is for all colors of hair. No special solution required for each color—no samples of hair required.

You will find also that with Kolor-Bak the hair has the same shade throughout. It does not appear streaked, faded or "died." Every scientist, every physician, knows that gray hair is hair that has ceased to receive its normal supply of coloring matter or pigment from certain tiny cells (called follicles or papillae) in the scalp, because these cells have become inactive from illness, shock of some kind, scalp disease, dandruff, infection, neglect of the hair, or lack of circulation, etc. But no matter what the cause of the grayness, it is simply amazing to see how it disappears when Kolor-Bak is used. It is a real substitute for the natural pigmentation.

LOCAL MASONS GO TO SPARTA TO HELP IN BIG DEDICATION

Two Hundred Members and Band Take Part in Festivities; Bible Presented

Local Masons, 200 strong, attended the dedication of the new Masonic temple of Valley Lodge No. 60, held at Sparta on Wednesday. La Crosse lodges 45 and 190, accompanied by a band and a Knight Templar escort of about forty, went up almost in a body. Masons from all over Wisconsin and adjacent states attended the dedication, which was one of the biggest affairs of its kind ever held in the state.

Grand lodge officers took charge of the dedication. The speakers were Charles F. Lamb of Madison, Grand Master, and C. E. Whelan, Madison, Past Grand Master. A feature of the ceremony was the presentation of a beautiful bible, donated to the new temple by the La Crosse Mason. The presentation speech was delivered by Past Grand Master John E. Langdon, and the address of acceptance was made by Judge R. L. Richards, Worshipful Master of Valley Lodge No. 60.

The dedication ceremonies took place at 2 o'clock, and at 2:30 there was a grand parade of all of the visiting lodges and bands. The addresses followed the parade, and a massed band concert completed the afternoon. In the evening there was another band concert, vaudeville, and a final grand ball at Armory hall.

Everybody Should Have A Hobby Says Winsome "Pat" Clary.

AMONG the comments that are hurled at some of our younger actresses, we find such pleasant ones as "She's pretty but she can't act," or "She can act but she's not a bit good looking." None of these aspersions may be tossed at "Pat" Clary, leading woman with Fiske O'Hara in "Jack of Hearts." To begin with, she is pretty, very pretty, as all who have seen her on the stage and her countless admirers will attest. And she can act. Besides she devotes her leisure moments to writing poetry. Somebody asked her recently, "How do you find time to do so much?" And she answered, "I always find time to do the things that interest me. Most people do. The only people I've heard complain that they didn't have time enough were those who weren't accomplishing much anyhow. I know lots of girls like that and they are usually very unhappy."

"I believe everyone, man or woman, should have a hobby, and if it is something useful, so much the better. But anything is preferable to aimless existence. Of course lots of these young people aren't to blame, those who brought them up should be criticized. I have always believed that no girl ought to be permitted to go through life sponging first on her father and then marrying and beginning the same process on her husband. It has long been acknowledged that every girl ought to be able to take care of herself in some way. Even though she marries a wealthy man, there's no guaranty in this uncertain age that he'll always remain so."

As for the gray matter which is tucked away under her smooth hair, "Pat" Clary finds plenty of use for that, for in addition to her stage work her talent takes the form of graceful and delicate verse, much of which has found its way into the pages of the better magazines. In the language of our times, "Pat" Clary gets by on all counts—beauty, brains and ability. And the greatest of these is brains.

FURNISHINGS ARE BEING PLACED IN THE MODEL HOME

The work of furnishing the floors in the home electric at Twenty-first and Main streets has been completed, and on Thursday the interior decorators began the work of furnishing the house. The furniture for the home is being put in by Tillman Bros., and the rugs and draperies by the E. R. Barron company. J. K. Verhulst of the Barron store is in charge of the decorative work.

On Wednesday night the flood lighting and other lighting systems were tried out and found to be satisfactory.

The home will be opened with appropriate exercises at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon and will be open for public inspection from 2 until 10 each afternoon and evening thereafter for a period of two weeks.

POLICE REQUESTED TO AID IN HUNT FOR MISSING MAN

The local police department has been asked by Mrs. Ernest Bainter, Pontiac, Mich., who was here last week, to aid in finding the whereabouts of her husband, missing for about six months.

Bainter is drawing a pension from the government, and according to advices received from Washington by the police department the checks were mailed to La Crosse and Pontiac and have all been returned.

Mr. Bainter came to La Crosse when she learned that the checks were being mailed here, but was advised to go back home and await developments.

Police know nothing of why the checks were mailed here and neither have they been able to ascertain whether Bainter has been in the city.

COUNTY FINISHING FILL FOR HAMMOND CHUTE THIS WEEK

The Black river improvement committee of the county board expects the fill being built in front of Hammond chute to be completed this week. The current is so swift and there is such a steep drop from the bed of Black river into the chute that it was necessary to build a fill across the chute in order to keep the brush and rock dam and riprap that will be put in to close the chute from being washed out. With the closing of smaller bridges in the river bank and the construction of the fill, there has been a noticeable increase in the flow of water past Onalaska and North La Crosse.

SEEKS TO BREAK GULF TO CANADA FLIGHT RECORD

HOUSTON, Texas.—Parker D. Cramer, hopped off at 6:14 o'clock Thursday morning at Ellington, near here, in an attempt to shatter the Gulf to Canada non-stop flight record, made recently by Lieut. Scotty Crocker.

Cramer's plane, a piny machine, is loaded with 700 pounds excess weight. His destination is Claron, Pennsylvania, 75 miles north of Philadelphia, and about 1,225 miles from Houston on an air line.

REVOLUTION BREAKS OUT IN BARCELONA

fully cognizant of the situation and had no doubt that sooner or later he would be forced to face a revolt.

King Alfonso, a man of great courage and fearlessness regarding his personal safety, declined to anticipate trouble. Queen Victoria, however, is said to have felt the position so keenly that she has for a long time refused to live in Madrid unless one of her relatives among the English royalty could be with her and as a result, some one from the English court is always in Madrid to give the queen moral support.

The revolt in Spain centers in that hot-bed of Spanish agitation, the district of Catalonia with its populous capital of Barcelona. This has long been the scene of Carlist conspiracy and revolt seeking to restore the Carlist dynasty line. It is also the center of the separatist movement, which seeks to make the great commercial area around Barcelona, a separate state of Southern Spain, detached from Madrid as the center of Northern Spain.

Catalonia also has been the main rendezvous for the extreme agitation, its elements, including Spanish anarchists and so-called modernists.

It is notable from the dispatch that the present movement is not dynamic, as the manifesto issued by Captain General Reverte is directed against "Professional politicians for seizing the power and annihilating the will of the king." The military element has also taken a markedly sympathetic attitude toward the present royal family and is looked upon as one of its chief proponents as against the disorders of political elements and the agitation of extremists.

The recent Spanish reverses in Morocco have added a new element of discontent and political rivalry.

MEMBER OF STATE ASSEMBLY DIES AT HOME IN GREEN BAY

GREEN BAY.—James T. Oliver, 74, assemblyman from the First district, died here Wednesday night at the home of his son, Dr. J. T. Oliver, after an illness of a few hours. Death was due to aneurysm.

Mr. Oliver suffered a heart attack while seated before the fire and his son, a doctor, gave him medical aid, which revived him for several minutes.

The late assemblyman was born in Yorkshire, England, August 15, 1840, and came to America in 1868.

Although taking an interest in political affairs, he held no office of any kind until elected to the assembly in 1920. He was re-elected in 1922.

It is known that history acting France politically informed ours and other governments of her intention. But not one of these governments, in deference to the ancient tradition of international "comity" which the French had cleverly brought to the fore, felt it had right to make frank and open protest. The replies of all were polite hints at their inability to approve and their disinclination to embarrass France by public criticism. France, thus left free to work her will as she wished, crossed the Rubicon, and once more the world was slipping back to the days of the Caesars and Napoleons.

But what is not yet known to the public in this country is a few months after the seizure of the Ruhr, with its obvious blockade of the world's progress and menace to the world's stability and peace, our government made effort to act. It wanted to aid in finding a solution of the problem. It planned the creation of an international commission to determine how much Germany could and should pay, to be followed by international cooperation if necessary to compel her to pay to the letter in the sums and manner prescribed by impartial experts.

France was diplomatically approached with due regard to the "comity of nations," but France rejected the proffer as she rejected like and contemporaneous suggestions from other friendly powers. It was then that Mr. Harding, disappointed, a little provoked, sadly but most significantly penned these lines:

"There is no question as to what this government is anxious and ready to do, but this government has no way of forcing one great power to accede to this government's wishes or to the proposal of a number of governments even though banded together for universal good and common service to all nations concerned."

Inevitably then many vivid pictures came upon the world screen before the eyes of the observer in the white house.

France's action was an unmistakable signal that the League of Nations had failed, the new order had not come, the world had slipped back to the old regime which it had been hoped the war would send to the big scrapheap of worn-out and useless things an advancing civilization is ever leaving behind it.

If the new order had really arrived, and a unit member of the community of nations failed to carry out in good faith its solemn covenants, the community itself through its authoritative organization would promptly summon the delinquent to the community tribunal and then enforce the judgment there handed down.

Had the new order come, if the League or any kind of organ of the world community was really functioning, France would have faced no need as one creditor among many creditors to take upon herself the great responsibility of invading the debtor's premises, gun in hand, demanding payment; would neither have wished nor dared to go back three centuries and make herself not only creditor but sheriff, jury and judge.

And the new order not fallen down France would have escaped the unwelcome need of relapse to the very system of which twice in half a century she has been the victim; of appearing selfishly neglectful of the rights and interests of her late allies and present best friends:

Of recourse to the old international "comity," born of the era of militaristic monarchs, all playing the same game of greed, using the rule of politeness which forbids any but an open enemy denouncing a proposed measure, no matter how wicked and hurtful it may be, thus enabling royal infallibility to work its will regardless of the opinion of neighbors—a recourse which even in our day and generation prevented America and England disarming beloved France from what seemed a most reckless adventure in the same old imperial formula which in times past sent millions of poor devils to their death as mere pawns in the game of kings.

If the new order had not failed France would have found it unnecessary to hazard the raising of German anger to the point of armed resistance; the danger that taking advantage of popular despair the Rhine and fan the pride of the people to a frenzied conflict with the invaders presaging little less than German national suicide; the sinister possibility that Russia, eager for a general revolution, might march armies to Germany's aid and bring on another world catastrophe; and at the least the actual menace of intensifying and embittering a traditional national hatred sure some time in the future to erupt in another Teutonic raid upon France—a malignant cancer in the body-politic which might not be reduced to harmless in another century.

France's justification is in her belief that as the new order had failed to materialize this was her only way: the apparent fact that the Germans were taking all possible advantage of that failure to escape payments; the seeming truth that if France were to get just recompense for some of her wrongs she must use force in the old-time way, quickly, resolutely.

Whatever may be thought here and there of the validity of this justification, the fact remains that all the world is inclined to be generous to France; and that once launched upon the great adventure she has conducted it with such discretion, moderation and decency as to win the respect of all peoples.

With all these and many more considerations before him it is easy to see how the practical, common-sense mind of the late President moved rapidly to three most important conclusions:

First—The real and fundamental impulse to France's action is found in her yearning for security against a third invasion from the other side of the Rhine. Such security is her undoubted right, she must have it, and it is only in the perfection and absoluteness of the guarantee of it that the future peace of Europe and the world may be secured.

Second—the whole of our modern world is now simply a neighborhood of nations, a community of peoples. Nothing but an organization of this community to abolish war from the earth can give France the safety which is her right, at the same time giving like safety to every other nation.

Third—American leadership is seemingly the only agency that can bring about an effective and enduring organization of this community. Therefore America will act.

lators were convicted. The report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, is not yet complete, he added, explaining, however, that there apparently has been at least 10,000 more convictions this year than for the preceding year and 15,000 more than for the year before that.

"Padlock" Provision Effective

Mr. Daugherty reported that the "padlock" provision of the prohibition law had been one of its most effective weapons, enabling closing of many buildings where liquor was sold, upon judgments that they were "nuisances." Increase of jail sentences also has been a deterring influence, Mr. Daugherty told the president. On the highest authority it was stated Thursday that Prohibition Commissioner Haynes will not be "fired." At the White House it was said that the president feels no dissatisfaction with his work.

NORMAL TRYING OUT NEW PLAN IN THE SCHEDULE

The first regular assembly hour was held at the La Crosse Normal school at 10 o'clock this morning. Conforming with the new system of having fifty-five minute periods with no special periods for assembly or lunch, students met in the auditorium. All thirty hour classes will meet on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Assembly periods will be held on Tuesday and Thursday.

"This is just an experiment," stated President F. A. Cotton. "If it does not work out as well as we expect we can easily change to the former plan." The new plan gives the students the choice of the fourth or fifth hours for their lunch.

Prof. A. H. Sanford had charge of the Japanese earthquake relief fund and gave a short talk to the students before the collection was taken. He pleaded with the students to be generous and to remember that because Japan was far away, the need for aid should not be forgotten.

Prof. Joseph Leder of the music department sang, "I Love a Little Cottage." Miss Florence Foxwell played the piano accompaniment. Prof. Leder announced that the first band practice would be held tonight at 7 o'clock in the small gymnasium. The boys' glee club will be organized this afternoon, girls' glee club, Friday afternoon, and the orchestra Wednesday afternoon. He expressed a desire that the music department of the school be made one of the biggest and best in the history of the institution.

CALL CONFERENCE OF G. O. P. CHIEFS OF THE NORTHWEST

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—By The Associated Press.—Republican leaders from seven states and John T. Adams, national chairman of the republican party, have been invited to meet in St. Paul early next month to discuss party affairs in the northwest. It was announced here Thursday Irving A. Caswell, national committeeman from Minnesota.

State chairmen and members of the republican national committee from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Montana, have been asked to attend. "The conference will be to permit the national chairman to acquaint himself with conditions within the party in the northwest. Mr. Caswell said, "It is not in the interest of any candidates for the party's nomination for the presidency in 1924. Let's get together and talk it over," will be the purpose of the meeting."

The masquerade in early times was connected with religion.

For All Complexion Ills
If the skin be colorless, sallow, muddy, over-oxidized or freckled, nothing will so surely overcome the condition as ordinary mercerized wax. It literally takes off a bad complexion—absorbs the dead and near-dead particles of surface skin, gently, gradually, causing no inconvenience at all. A new complexion is then in evidence, clear, spotless, delicately soft and beautiful. One ounce of this wax, procurable at any drugstore, will rejuvenate even the worst complexion. It is used like cold cream, at bedtime.

METHODISTS LAW VIOLATORS SAYS EASTERN BISHOP

Calls Attack on Dry Offenders Inconsistent in View of Stand on Amusements

CHICAGO, Ill.—Methodists who criticize violators of the eighteenth amendment, accusing them of nullification of the law, are themselves law nullifiers when it comes to the amusement question, according to Bishop Edwin M. Hughes of the Boston area of the Methodist Episcopal church, formerly president of De Pauw university, Greencastle, Ind.

Bishop Hughes has written an article for the September-October issue of the Methodist Review entitled "Our Mistaken Legislation on Amusements." Dr. George Elliott, editor of the Review, said he intended to have the article placed in the hands of every delegate to the next general conference, the law making body of the church, which meets in Springfield, Mass., in May.

Ever since 1872 the law of the Methodist church has required that members attending the theater or horse races, dancing or patronizing dancing schools, be expelled from the church. Bishop Hughes declares this law has never been obeyed in the church and that to keep it there while the membership ministers as well as laymen, violate it makes the church guilty of the same sin the church criticizes in the public for repudiating the national prohibitory law.

"Good citizens are afflicted by the spirit of lawlessness that prevails," says Bishop Hughes. "Are Methodist Episcopal preachers in a good position to join in the demand for law keeping when they themselves are custodians of a law which they never directly enforce?"

"Fifty years have proven beyond doubt that the law is not workable. Who believes for a moment that any bishop of our church would send out word to the preachers in his area insisting that they put in practice paragraph 2802? And who believes that if he did issue such an insistence the preachers would in any fair number heed the counsel?"

"I have had fifty years of remembered experience in the Methodist Episcopal church and I have never known or heard of a single case where the detailed law on amusements has been applied and anybody expelled!"

UNIVERSITY BOARD NOW UNDER CONTROL OF BLAINE FACTION

Tuesday Appointments Bring
Number of Governor's Appointees to Nine

BOARD EXPECTED TO FOLLOW POLICY NOW IN FORCE

University Still to be Kept Out of Partisan Politics

MADISON, Wis.—By Associated Press.—Although the La Follette Progressive Republicans claim control of the University board of regents, following appointment by Governor Blaine of three new board members, those in close touch with the situation at the university say that with the present membership of the governing body little change of policy is to be expected.

Only after a bitter and prolonged fight in the state senate were the Progressives able to enact a law increasing the size of the regents to give farmer labor representation, and at the same time throw control to the La Follette faction. While able to effect this change, even now some Progressive leaders express doubt about actual control of the directing board at the university.

It is thought by those in touch with the situation that the board, although having a majority of Blaine appointees, will follow along the lines laid down in the past, when the university was kept entirely out of partisan politics.

As it now stands, there are 17 board members, none of them appointed by the present Progressive Republican administration, and supposed to be aligned with the former group. Those not appointed by Governor Blaine are:

President E. A. Birge and John Callahan, ex officio members with votes; Gilbert E. Seaman, A. J. Horlick, Walter J. Koller, Harry L. Butler, D. O. Mahoney, and Ben F. Faust. The appointees of Governor Blaine are: Zona Gale, Leola Hirschman, Elizabeth Waters, Franklin Nace, C. B. Casperson, John Cashman, Fred Bachman, Theodore Kronschnage, and John C. Schmidtman.

The line-up is said to indicate that numerical control rests with the Progressives for the first time in a number of years. Until some important question involving university policy arises, there will be no way of telling just where the actual control of the board rests.

While some quarters have reported a desire on the part of Progressives to punish university faculty leaders

MEXICO MUCH IMPROVED

Babson Bullish on Outlook for Southern Republic

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass.—Roger W. Babson issued the following statement regarding conditions in Mexico.

"The most interesting event of the week to business men and investors is the announced attitude of the administration relative to Mexico. For some time, it has been known by those in intimate touch with the state department that relations were becoming more friendly day by day between the United States and our neighbor to the south. Secretary Hughes, who went into the cabinet very much prejudiced against Mexico, has been gradually becoming more friendly. In justice to Mr. Hughes, however, it should be said that conditions have entirely changed and that he has been a large factor in the improvement of relations. Fear was expressed in some quarters for Mexico with the announcement of President Harding's death; but President Coolidge has quieted these apprehensions with the assurance that he will carry out Mr. Harding's Mexican policy. This accounts for the recent action of the administration and the hopefulness of all concerned.

"About a year ago, the Mexican government, through the efforts of New York bankers, agreed to a readjustment of its indebtedness. Continually during the past year various corporate readjustments have been going on, which show the good faith of the Obregon government. The action of the Mexican congress regarding confiscation has been very satisfactory to American investors. The fact that all usurpers have been put down and that Villa himself has been finally eliminated has strengthened the situation. There are still many wild-eyed radicals in the Mexican government but these are gradually being tamed. Like Russia, Mexico is steadily becoming more conservative, having learned the lesson that natural resources are of no avail unless developed by men of integrity, industry, and intelligence. The Mexican revolutions of the past ten years have been costly; but through them the people have learned that it is men that make values, and that souls—not theories—make men.

"Mexico is a wonderful country. It is a large country, about a quarter the size of the United States, and is very rich in natural resources. You hear mostly about the oil of Mexico; but oil is only a small fraction of her wealth. The timber, mineral, and agricultural resources far exceed anything that can ever be developed in oil. We talk about conditions in Europe, but forget these tremendous opportunities at our very door. However, this is only human nature. Most people of Boston have never been to Bunker Hill Monument, and very few New Yorkers have climbed the Statue of Liberty. In the same way, investors in England and France are today enthusiastic over the improved conditions in Mexico, while—whether next door neighbors—scarcely give them a thought. The new attitude of our government toward Mexico should help business in this country, especially in the border states. Cities like New Orleans, San Antonio, El Paso, St. Louis, and Kansas City should especially profit. The Pacific coast will always be benefited by a stable Mexico.

"Many investors in the United States and Canada are interested in Mexican securities. The great public utilities of Mexico are financed from Montreal and Toronto. Canadian investors are also interested in Mexican cotton mills. Investors in the United States are interested in mining projects, railroads and especially in Mexican oil. All of these properties should be benefited by the United States recognition of the Mexican government. Not only does this recognition help American investors directly but also indirectly, as it encourages investors in England and France who are also largely interested in Mexico. In the past three or four years almost every letter that I have received from English friends has asked, 'Why will not your government recognize Mexico?' It certainly should. Of course it will be some time before Mexican trade will make any impression on the Babson chart, which now stands at ten per cent below normal; but some day it will, and that impression then will be distinctly favorable."

who sponsored the round-robin, scoring Senator La Follette for his war record, several members of the regents have said that they would strenuously oppose any such move. There will be no more vacancies on the board of regents until next year when the term of President Walter Koller expires.

LAW PENALIZING TAX DELINQUENTS COMES UNDER FIRE

Corporations Planning Court
Attack on New Law Imposing Penalty

MADISON, Wis.—Court action is expected by the state tax commission to be commenced soon by Wisconsin corporations in an effort to have declared invalid the new law providing a penalty to be assessed against income taxpayers who make fraudulent or incorrect returns.

The commission reports that it is now assessing 10 per cent interest, as well as penalties against corporations and individuals found to have withheld income tax payments from the state. These additional assessments are made under the law enacted by the 1923 legislature giving the commission authority to impose the interest rate as well as a penalty up to 200 per cent of the total delinquent tax.

Constitutionality of the statute is questioned by attorneys for certain corporations, who are reported to have announced their intention to commence legal action in an effort to have the law held invalid.

The attorney general has evaded passing an opinion on validity of the law, taking the position that it was a question for court determination. The law involved is one of the most important enacted by the last session of the legislature.

Heads—Dissolve Them
Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and excretions from the skin, and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of calomine powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition.

CROP REPORT

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Synopsis of weather and crop conditions in Wisconsin for the week ending Tuesday, September 11:

Temperatures were above normal during the fore part of the week, but it was cool during the latter part. Although no frosts were reported, light to heavy rains in different localities interrupted fall plowing and seeding and the harvest of tobacco, but benefited corn, late potatoes, pastures and truck. Threshing from the field is practically completed in many localities. Corn is nearing maturity in the extreme south, but it needs warm, dry weather. Silo filling is well advanced. Clover haying is in progress. Tobacco in most sections is good to excellent; serious damage from hail is reported in Vernon county and some in Dane county. Late potatoes have continued to improve, and sugar beets, buckwheat, truck and fruits are mostly good. The cranberry harvest is progressing; the condition of the crop in most bogs is fair to good. Fall sown grains are coming up in many central and southern localities.

NORTH SHORE ROAD SEEKS TO ESTABLISH FEEDER TRUCK LINE

The motor trucks, it was explained, would be used as feeders.

WOMEN TO CLEAN FIELDS
MASON CITY, Iowa.—A revival of the ancient practice of "cleaning" the field after the harvesters are through is to be carried out by members of the Business and Professional Women's club of Mason City, in a large onion field near here. Martha Pattle and Lord Warner are captains of two teams which are to glean a forty-acre field Saturday and Sunday. Requests have been made by the women for means of removing onion stains and odor from the hands.

BARRON RESIDENTS IN DISPUTE WITH ELECTRIC UTILITY

BARRON, Wis.—The railroad commission has issued an order compelling the city electric utility either to remove its wires so that they will not come in contact with trees lining residence street here, or to so insulate the wires that danger of fire will be removed.

The commission ruling is made under the Wisconsin electrical code, which is applied to a city utility for the first time.

Many residents have refused to trim their trees to remove contact from wires, with the result that the city may be forced to move the electric lines.

SEYMOUR, Wis.—When fire got beyond control of the volunteer department here, Apleton firemen came to the rescue. The fire partially destroyed the Falck hotel at a loss of $8,000.

CLAIMS BAD HABITS CONTRIBUTE TO BIG BADGER FIRE LOSS

Smoking in Bed One of Customs
Which Make Loss Greater than it Should be

MOUNT HORREL, Wis.—Smoking in bed is one of the bad habits indulged in by Wisconsin people that make the annual fire loss 75 percent greater than it ought to be, according to Deputy Insurance Commissioner O. H. Johnson speaking before the Mount Horrel Advancement association Wednesday night.

He likened bad habits that add to the fire hazard as burning rubbish near buildings; tar boiling over; careless handling of candles and lamps; careless throwing away of cigarettes and cigarette stubs; children playing with matches; hanging clothing too near stoves and stove pipes; leaving gas pipes; gasoline explosions; oil rags and waste too close to fire; over heated stoves and heaters; grease and fat boiling over, besides the habit of individual smoking in bed or in other places equally inflammable.

"When we think of the stupendous losses resulting from fire, we see more clearly the need of giving serious attention and becoming more vitally interested in the fire prevention idea. In spite of the steady development of fire fighting signs and equipment, and fire protection engineering, there has been a steadily increasing fire loss year after year. The figures are now reaching such tremendous proportions that organizations interested in fire believe that is justifiable in making an appeal to all persons in a position to inform and to make a sustained effort during the present year to spread the gospel of fire prevention."

"Permit me to point out the fire loss more clearly by specifically citing figures and facts and instances where fires occur. The national fire loss last year was $72,860,000, an amount equal to the total cost of the Panama canal. This presents an average per capita loss of $1.75 which is a figure greater than ever recorded previously, including 1900, the year of the San Francisco conflagration."

"But the loss of property as a result of fires is not the most impressive and the saddest phase of the havoc caused by this demon. The thing that strikes us particularly and that is regrettable is the fact that over 15,000 or out citizens meet an immediate death annually because of fires."

MOVIES

CASINO TODAY

Hollywood, California's shrine of moviedom, in all its glitter, all its fascination, all its glory—is depicted just as it is in "Mary of the Movies"—the special production at the Casino theater today.

Who among the legions of film fans—and among those who claim they are not film fans—has not felt the fascination of moviedom who has not dreamed of meeting some of the celebrities? That is the opportunity that is actually given in "Mary of the Movies" for its scenes are laid in the heart of moviedom, more than forty famous stars appear in it, and its story is the true story of a small-town girl who goes to Hollywood to seek fame in motion pictures.

BILLY MAINE'S TROUPE

Billy Maine and his comedians and dancing girls are in readiness to give the surprise of their lives to La Crosse skedaddlers who may be inclined to believe that because a noted literary person has proclaimed that "Figs is Figs" that there is no more to say about one sort of stage entertainment than that musical comedy is musical comedy. As Billy Maine's organization presents it, at the Majestic, it is all that and a lot more. There is class, there is real fun, and real wit and humor as well as "Hokeyum." Laughs are not "extracted," they come gurgling forth gleefully. No waits, humming and hawing while lines are recalled.

JAIL ROMANCE IS BROKEN BY WINONA JUDGE

Romance, which beamed through the iron grating of a cell in the Winona county jail a year and a half ago, when Chester Pease, then serving a sentence for robbery of a box car, and brought him fulfillment in a marriage with Miss Harriet Stahmann, was dulled Wednesday as Pease sought use of his liberty gained Tuesday after a month's term in jail for intoxication.

His wife, whom he won while in jail, he lost while in jail, it was learned. Mrs. Pease, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Stahmann, 577 Sioux street, obtained an absolute decree of divorce during her husband's most recent confinement in the county bastille, on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Judge C. E. Callaghan granted her custody of their son, George Arthur, born last April. It is understood that the request for alimony made at the same time the divorce action was brought, was later withdrawn.

but the smoothness and precision for which the Billy Maine show has become famous.

"MORE TO BE PITIED THAN SCORNED"

"More to be pitied than scorned," the first of a series of screen revivals of the thrilling stage plays of Charles E. Blaney, opened last night at the Majestic theater.

With an all-star cast of players comprising J. Frank Glendon, Alice Lake, Rosemary Theby, Phila McCollough, Baby Josephine Adair and others, the play made an instant hit. Baby Adair scored heavily as Ruth Lorraine, and Alice Lake as the wife and mother made a figure which appealed both to the eye and the sympathies.

"BLUEBEARD'S EIGHTH WIFE"

Gloria Swanson scored a decided triumph in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," which opened at the Rival theater last night.

This is a story of a French girl who marries an American multi-millionaire "Bluebeard" who has already divorced seven wives. Miss Swanson, however, in the role of Mona de Brise, determines she will never be John Brandon's (Huntley Gordon) eighth ex-wife. She tantalizes him until he is almost frantic. Mona decides to give her husband ample grounds for divorce, but Brandon who loves his wife, checksmate her and all misunderstandings are cleared away with love triumphant at the finish.

GERMAN LANGUAGE COMING BACK IN BADGER SCHOOLS

Ten Years Will be Required
Before it Regains Former Position is Claim

MADISON, Wis.—It will take 10 more years before German regains the position it held in the public schools before the war, according to C. J. Anderson of the state department of public instruction.

The German language as a school subject is coming back but it is coming back slowly. Mr. Anderson says. About a dozen high schools are now teaching German, again with an occasional school joining the list that includes German among the languages taught.

The German language come-back is progressing along new lines, however. Mr. Anderson asserts. The new text books being used are minus the German propaganda that filled them before the war.

Before the war Milwaukee taught German in the common schools as well as in the high school. High schools in practically every city taught German. The came the war with the total distinction of German as a school subject.

Since the close of the war German has slowly trickled back into school curriculums. Whether or not a school is to teach German is left entirely in the hands of local school boards.

The new form of German texts presents an interesting contrast to the reading material offered students before the war. "The Deutschland Ueber Alles" tone has disappeared and in its place is German for the language's sake minus any glorification of the Kaiser's realm.

Of course advanced studies lead to Goethe, Schiller, Heine and other works with whatever famous German works contain but wherever possible the glorification of the old German state is missing. "Tannenbaum" remains popular among students learning German songs.

The department of public instruction has not yet been informed as to the exact number of schools who will teach German in the state this year and the usual slight increase is expected.

CHILD DIES FROM FLY POISON

PHILIP, S. D.—Drinking a quantity of fly poison caused the death of the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Buckholz, living on a farm near Ottumwa, some miles from here. The father had been to town and while there purchased some of the fly poison which comes in small cans, with a felt or some similar material, saturated with the poison and is exposed through several holes in the top. The little boy was riding in the back seat of the auto and evidently pulled out the poisoned felt and was chewing it when the father chanced to look around.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL ENROLLMENT GAINING BY 3,000 A YEAR

Registration of More than Fifty Thousand Expected During the Coming Year

FREE TRAINING GIVEN BY STATE TO INDUSTRIALLY HANDICAPPED

Human Salvaging Becoming Big Work of Social Engineering

MADISON, Wis. — Enrollment at Wisconsin vocational schools is increasing at the rate of 3,000 a year with an expectation of more than 55,000 students in the state trade schools this year.

New students for the coming year are now being enrolled at the 16 vocational schools of the state. The exact enrollment will not be determined for some time.

The year ending July 1 saw a total of 52,510 students in the state's vocational schools according to figures compiled in the office of G. D. Harnhecht, state director of vocational education, on Tuesday. The enrollment the year before was 49,225.

The vocational schools of Wisconsin cost a total of $2,136,558 last year, but of this only $255,000 was state aid.

Day and night schools are about equally popular with vocational students according to the records of the year with a total of 23,665 day students and 25,845 attending at night.

The rehabilitation division of the vocational board gives free service to citizens who have been injured in industry, civil accidents or have been physically handicapped in some other way.

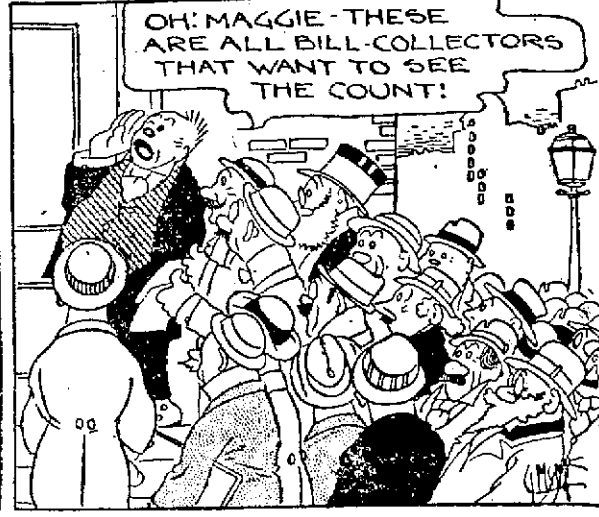

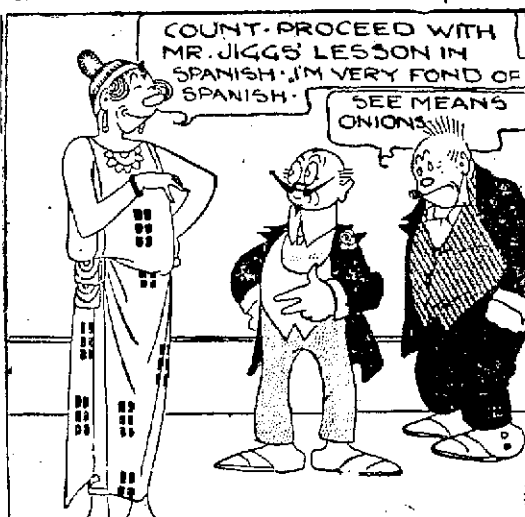

The work of the rehabilitation department is to analyze the possibilities of the person making the request, to advise concerning the proper type of artificial limb, to plan and supervise the training of the applicant, provide maintenance while learning his trade, find him a position and follow up to see whether or not he is successful. During the past year over 200 cases have been trained and have become an asset instead of a liability to society.

Two offices are maintained, one at Milwaukee and one at Madison. In each community the director of the vocational school, and the county board officers are the agents of the division.

A Dane county farmer lost his arm in a runaway. He was given a short course at the university and is now a successful milk tester. One man, blind for 60 years, earning his living by peddling, during the past year learned to make cuff rings and makes more than a living wage now. A girl 19 years of age, her left arm amputated by a corn shredder is completing her course this year to become a teacher.

Human salvaging is becoming the highest piece of social engineering the state has ever attempted, according to those taking part in the rehabilitation work. It is financed by federal state and local funds. County nurses, doctors, the Bradley Memorial hospital and the curative workshop at Milwaukee have cooperated with the rehabilitation division.

MOTORISTS' MEET TO DISCUSS AUTO TAXES

National Association to Convene in Cleveland September 14

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—By The Associated Press.—The Cleveland Automobile club will host September 14 and 15 to what is expected to be the most elaborate automobile convention held in the United States this year, according to an announcement by Fred H. Caley, secretary of the Cleveland Automobile club and the National Motorists' association. Club Presidents, secretaries and other officials from all parts of the country, representing more than 400,000 motorists, are expected to attend the meeting. Every detail of automobile club work will be analyzed, from the inaugural efforts of the young organization to the finished products of the veteran club.

The attitude of organized motorists will be sought on the question of automobile taxation, and the question of financing road construction and maintenance will occupy a prominent place in the deliberations.
